The lynching of T. H. Thurmond and Jack Holmes Sunday night is a sad commentary on contemporary jurisprudence. The chicken-hearted attitude of courts all over the land has finally brought to pass a situation wherein citizens felt obliged to take a hand in order to be absolutely sure that there would occur no miscarriage of justice in dealing with one of the most cold-blooded and vicious killings in California history.

The writer has long deplored mob violence, chiefly for the reason that the sanity of an irascible and blood-lustful crowd is always in question, and a good many lynchings are themselves miscarriages of justice. We are still entitled to this same general opinion, even though it is not so applicable to the case at hand. It is our belief, however, that there has arrived a time during which crimes of violence will carry the penalty of the mob, and the condition will exist until such time as American jurors and judges become more severe in meting out punishment to murderers and kidnapers. Citizens are sick and tired of seeing desperate criminals and killers dragged from the clutches of the hangman by chicken-hearted judges, easily misled jurors, "insanity" pleas, and the many loopholes devised by clever lawyers.

Yes, much as we dislike to see the law taken into the hands of a mob, we find it hard to blame the mob as much as we do the courts.

There has grown up in these more or less United States a disregard of the law that is indeed appalling. Hundreds of people have been murdered in the past 15 years for which no one has paid the penalty; hundreds of others have been avenged by the stay of a mere few years in a penitentiary. Verily, the time has come to put the fear of God into the hearts of the "untouchables"—and if the courts will not do it, the people are apparently prepared to do it for them.

Formation of the Sacramento Valley Protective league to fight the Central Valley power and water scheme will come before the people at the statewide election on Dec. 19, is significant of the weakness and unsoundness of that widely promoted proposal.

From Sutter, Yuba, Butte and neighboring counties, the very heart of the great valley which the promoters are asserting will benefit so greatly by the $170,000,000 project, comes positive and determined rejection and opposition.

Voters in more distant counties who would share in the liabilities created by the Central Valley Project act without a chance to benefit, may well be guided by the action of the Sacramento valley folks. They know what it is all about, and they know the scheme is bad.

Reports of the mass meeting held in Marysville at which the protective league was organized indicate the strength of the opposition movement. Senator W. P. Rich of Marysville, Assemblyman J. E. Frazier of Gridley and Senator C. H. Deuel of Chico presented the arguments against the water plan and took the lead in proposing united efforts for its defeat.

Editor Dan Beebe of the Oroville Mercury Register proposed a resolution which declared that the provisions of the water act, "are such as will, in case of its approval by vote, affect adversely the welfare of the citizens and taxpayers of the Sacramento valley and of the state." It was unanimously adopted.

Senator Deuel was named presi-

Will Not Support Water Act, S. F. Chamber Com'ce

San Francisco, Nov. 29—"On motion duly made, seconded and carried it was resolved by the board of directors that the following statement of the position of the San Francisco chamber of commerce on assembly bill No. 259 be authorized:

"The San Francisco chamber of commerce cannot approve the Central Valley water act of 1933 and recommends, on the contrary, that at the special election, Dec. 19, 1933, the vote thereon be No."

This attitude of the San Francisco chamber of commerce was revealed here today by a duly authorized spokesman of the organization, who said:

"In reaching that conclusion we appreciate the necessity, through some system of water storage in the Sacramento valley, of providing for salinity control in the vicinity of Martinez, of protecting the delta lands from salinity encroachment, of taking measures for flood control and of diverting into the San Joaquin valley surplus waters from the Sacramento valley watershed. The water shortage in the San Joaquin valley and the salinity advances in and about the delta region present serious water problems, demanding early solution.

"The project proposed by Assembly bill 259 as a solution for these water problems would cost about one hundred and seventy million dollars with interest. We are informed by competent engineering advice that these water problems can be solved by works whose cost would not exceed approximately one-third of that amount. In solving a serious water problem it would be indefensible extravagance to undertake a project that would cost three times as much as is necessary.

"While the state might not be legally liable on any revenue bonds which might be issued by the water project authority, it might well feel a moral obligation in the premises and the act on its face clearly indicates that direct appropriations or contributions from the state for this project might hereafter be demanded if the act carries. If this act, with these expressions of legislative intent thus written in the act itself, is approved by the people it will be urged with added force to future legislatures that the people have thus approved direct appropriations from the state in aid of this expensive project.

"The federal government has not indicated that it will make any contribution to this huge project or that it will buy the proposed revenue bonds. In this respect the voters of the state next December will have no such assurances of aid from the federal government, as did the people of San Francisco at their recent municipal bond election where the federal government was definitely committed to aid in each one of the proposed bond measures submitted to a vote of the people of San Francisco.

"For these reasons we believe that the Central Valley water project act of 1933 should be defeated at the polls next month. We do believe, however, that with the defeat of this act, efforts should be promptly renewed to solve our

Three New Members Taken Into Grange On Tuesday Evening

About 44 members of Orchard City grange gathered last night at Odd Fellow's hall for their regular meeting. Three new members, Mr. and Mrs. Maynard Knopf and Mrs. Werner Raab, were taken into the organization on this occasion, receiving the first and second degrees.

During the lecturer's hour Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Gardner talked on their recent trip east. Committee's were called upon, and Mrs. M. E. Purmort, education, responded with a reading, and Mrs. Harry Mitchell reported for the home economics department. H. G. Keesling, for the good of the order, spoke on grange principles.

Chaplain Mrs. Parkhill, in behalf of the home economics group, presented Mrs. Raab, a recent bride, with a gift.

Louis Shelley took up the matter of a drill team to confer the first and second degrees, which have heretofore been bestowed without ceremony, and it was indefinitely decided that this team should be composed of men.

After the meeting the group congregated in the dining room, where a huge "bride's" cake was cut by Mrs. Raab, and served with coffee.

DR. SYLVESTER WILL ADDRESS P. T. A. DEC. 5TH

Tuesday, Dec. 5, there will be a meeting of the grammar school P. T. A. at the school building.

Dr. C. B. Sylvester of the First Methodist church of San Jose will address the gathering on "The Place of the Home and the School in the Ethical Training of Children."

The school glee club will entertain under the direction of Mrs. Stuart.

It is hoped by the organization's officers that a good crowd will turn out for the meeting.

water problems, and that these efforts should receive earnest attention and action at the first session of the legislature, subsequently convening, whether it be a regular or a special session thereof. We pledge our best efforts to secure a solution by the economic construction of such works as are necessary for the purpose, but we are definitely opposed to incurring extravagant and unnecessary financial obligations to that end, particularly at this time, when California is unable to meet its own payrolls, and is second among the states of the Union in the amount of its bonded debt.

Campbell Defeats San Martin Nine In Close Game

"Homerun" Reed came through nicely at a crucial interval of Sunday's game with San Martin. The slugger's opportunity came in the fourth inning: 2-2, two out. Reed hit DeSelle's second ball out into left field, where it took a mighty bounce over the fielder's head. Mr. Reed romped home.

"Schoolboy" Quain has his usual bad first inning, but pitched very good ball thereafter.

E. De Selle singled, and Berta came through with a home run to give the visitors a two-run lead. Quain settled down and allowed a single in the second and another in the third, and then blanked San Martin until the ninth frame. It looked like it was going to be another fast inning until the visitors cracked out three singles to put over their third run.

With the tying runs on base, Quain struck out a pinch hitter for the third out to end the game. Quain struck out six men, hit one, and walked one. All told, San Martin touched "Schoolboy" for eight hits.

"Benedict" DeSelle pitched superb ball for the southern visitors, and was touched for only six hits. He struck out three Campbellites, and walked two.

Not a Campbell player reached first base until the fourth inning, when all five runs were scored. Thurber lead off with an infield out. Atkinson was given a free pass to first, and then DeSelle threw Tucker's grounder away to put men on second and third. Jung came through with a nice single to score Atkinson, while Wood followed suit to bring in Tucker. Clark fouled out to the catcher; two gone. This brought Reed up with two on; his home run finished the scoring as far as the local club was concerned.

The Campbell boys could not get to DeSelle for any further runs. Jung got a single in the sixth, Tucker singled in the eighth and was thrown out at second trying to stretch it into a double, while in the same inning Wood got his second single, only to be picked off first by DeSelle.

The only extra base hits of the day were the home runs by Reed and Berta. C. DeSelle, Berta, Jung and Wood each collected two safe hits. E. DeSelle at third saved the day many times for San Martin by his spectacular fielding.

Alumnae to Stage Play for Benefit Of Oriole Fund

Jack Murdock, Willis Noethig, Harold Gardner and Bob Stubbe will probably play the leads in "Stray Cats," a three-act farce which will be presented at the grammar school auditorium on Saturday night, Jan. 27, 1934.

The play is being put on by the Campbell Union High School Alumnae association for the benefit of the fund which will in the spring pay for the school's year-book, "The Oriole."

Murdock, instigator of the affair, is chairman of the play committee. Noethig, Gardner and Stubbe are aiding. Mrs. Weyland Morgan has consented to coach the players, and T. A. Cutting will act as faculty advisor.

Dan Yeager is president of the association, and Miss Helen Ferro is its secretary.

ROUND THE WORLD "CRUISE" ENJOYED BY 140 TRAVELERS

By F. H. Cutting

The famous, personally conducted "World Tour" is an event of the past, but it will remain long in the memory of the 140 souls who took the eventful journey.

Group 2 of the Congregational ladies' guild made the plans and carried through the splendid trip, which took place Friday evening. The voyage was safely made across the Atlantic. No sea-sickness was reported, and the first stop on the other side was made at Ireland. (S. N. Hedegard's). A fine Irish dish of potato chips was served. The next stop, Denmark, also at the Hedegard's, was decorated in Danish style, and the sweet soup and aebleskies were served by charming damsels in Danish costume, even to wooden shoes.

Scotland (A.W. Page's) was next visited. There the many voyagers were served Scotch scones with tea and cluse. The Scotch lassie in tartan served charmingly.

The voyage from there to Germany (the Williamson's) was rather rough, but all were able to partake heartily of cold slaw and pretzels, which were served with true German hospitality.

Italy (Mrs. John Duncan's) was indeed a land of plenty. A great dish of puelenta was served by buxom Italian girls in brilliant costumes.

Japan (the Rev. Bennett's) was reached after a long voyage. Everything looked strange, and the rice cakes and tea served by the beautifully dressed Japanese maids were thoroughly enjoyed by the jolly tourists.

The home port (Congregational church) was reached finally, and all participants in the tour reported an excellent time.

The FARMERS CORNER

by RALPH H. TAYLOR

Executive Secretary
Agricultural Council of California

Psychologists call it the "herd instinct," but call it what you will, man, since the beginning of time, has sought the guidance and counsel of his fellow-man in periods of crisis and perplexity.

And the farmer, always a homespun philosopher, if not an academic one, was one of the first to recognize the simple truth.

Out of his natural desire for mutual consideration of mutual problems came the first farmers and fruit growers convention of California—more than 50 years ago.

And the same instinct promises to bring farmers from every section of the state, in record-breaking numbers, to the 1933 farmers and fruit growers convention, which will be held in Modesto Dec. 13-14. Never have the farmer's problems been so complex or so numerous.

New marketing agreements and the new farm credit structure, both requiring a great deal of interpretation and study, will be two of the big drawing cards at this year's convention, with outstanding national and state authorities scheduled to be present to describe their operation and interpret them as they apply to the individual farmer.

The California farmer, like the California business man and industrialist, is face to face with revolutionary changes which bear heavily on his future success or failure and the state department of agriculture, in arranging the open forum discussion this year has made every effort to help him in adapting himself to the new con-

Director of Agriculture A. A. Brock has grouped the convention program under three heads: agricultural marketing, agricultural credits, and agricultural regulatory and service work.

On the opening day, E. L. Markell, field representative of the agricultural adjustment administration in California, will discuss the adjustment act and report on progress to date, as well as future plans for aiding the farmer under the new set-up. Markell was instrumental in working out the successful Tokay grape deal.

Markell will be followed by A. J. McFadden of Santa Ana, president of the pro-rate commission, outlining the scope of the far-reaching pro-rate act. State Corporation Commissioner Edwin M. Daugherty will be on the same program with an address on "The Relation of the California Recovery Act to Agriculture." Mr. Daugherty, incidentally, in his administration of the CRA, has done all within his power to serve agriculture fairly and without unnecessary duplication.

One of the features of the afternoon session on the opening day will be an address by Brice M. Mace, Jr., regional manager of the agricultural adjustment administration, San Francisco.

Leading off on the second day of the convention, A. S. Goss, land bank commissioner of the farm credit administration at Washington, will address the delegates. He will be followed by Willard D. Ellis, president of the Federal Land bank at Berkeley. Ellis holds a key position in the credit structure as general agent for all farm administration in the eleventh district.

A highlight of the afternoon session of the second day will be an address by Lee A. Strong, former assistant director of agriculture in California, and America's foremost authority on plant quarantine, state and federal. Strong, recently elevated to the important post of chief of the United States bureau of entomology, will discuss recent developments in federal plant quarantine work.

Many other leaders in the agricultural industry and in governmental agencies which are seeking to assist the farmer during the present emergency will appear before the convention.

The sessions will be open to all farmers and it is anticipated that hundreds of farmers who have heretofore been content to be represented by proxies will attend the convention this year to submit their problems to the recognized authorities who will be present.

For the farmer in need of new courage and practical advice in the fight for survival and recovery, the convention should pay real dividends.

P • G • and E — YOUR service company

ELECTRIC and GAS SERVICE come so easily that it is natural to take the ever present supply for granted.

It is there, right at your hand, the instant you want it.

Isn't it true that you rarely think of what stands behind the button or the valve?

Yet a great and intricate system of power houses and power lines, of gas mains and distributing pipes, representing more than $700,000,000 of investment, has been built just to put that easy, dependable service at your finger tips.

That is an enormous investment, but it is not any one man's money, nor the money of any score of men. More than 90,000 persons, 70,000 of them living in California, have put their savings into this business.

They are just the average run of folks, industrious, thrifty, many of them depending upon their dividends for their living.

These dividends are like pay checks. They go to pay the grocer, the baker, the candlestick maker; they help to keep things going in every community and in every line of business.

Also it takes a regular army of workers to make sure you have that service. P. G. and E. employs 10,600 men and women. They make their homes in every part of Northern and Central California.

Their wages amounting this year to more than 15 million dollars, flow into stores, factories, homes, theaters, quickening business and stimulating trade in more than 600 cities and towns.

Our service goes to 1,250,000 customers. It is always the best service that a faithful and conscientious organization can give.

We are in California... of California... for California.

She Goes Fishing, After 45 Years in Business

MISS ESTELLE MCGRAW

Miss Estelle McGraw recently retired from the employ of the Michigan Bell Telephone Company with the longest record of telephone service ever attained by a Michigan woman. She became an operator on July 5, 1887, when Detroit had only twenty telephone girls, and she was the youngest of the lot.

At that time, only 1,700 persons in the city had telephones, and during those early years her experience included local and long distance operating, collections, waiting on customers at the counter, and making herself generally useful. For the past 30 years she had filled an important place in the Michigan Bell Telephone Company's directory department, and for ten years had been in charge of the compilation of all of the company's telephone directories except the Detroit book.

The first thing she did upon her retirement was to go to Northern Michigan on a trout fishing trip.

RETS ROOM IDEA INAUGURATED AT GRAMMAR SCHOOL

At the Campbell grammar school last week there was instituted for the first time what is known as a "health room," which is a replica of a ten-bed ward in a children's hospital, and set aside for the use of ill and undernourished children during physical education and recess periods.

Mrs. Ethel Short, school nurse, and Miss Rowena Farman, cafeteria manager and dietician, have charge of the little "hospital."

Miss Farman calls attention to the hot dishes which are available at the cafeteria at five cents a dish, and suggests that cold lunches brought by children be augmented by at least one of these. A mid-morning lunch is also offered at small cost.

Ira Abbott, principal of the school, has issued letters to all parents and guardians of school children, asking that underweight children be permitted to rest thoroughly after school, and that they be given, besides additional milk, a diet calculated to build them up.

KIWANIS NOTES By Heck

Under the chairmanship of B. O. Curry Kiwanians were entertained at yesterday's luncheon by Carl Field, who told of business conditions in his home state of Kansas, having but recently returned from that section.

In his home county where oil has been struck, landowners are in good shape, he said, but where they depend entirely on farming they are in very poor circumstances.

Returning through Texas, Mr. Field noted great privation, particularly among the negroes, who plowed under a great part of their staple crop, cotton, in compliance with the government program.

dent of the newly formed league and an executive committee which will direct an active campaign of opposition to the act, was provided for. Delegations were present from Chico, Oroville, Auburn, Colusa, Marysville, Gridley and many other important cities and towns in the valley. A remarkable feature of the large meeting was the unanimity of the sentiment against loading down the state with a new debt of $170,000,000.

All the Sacramento valley people can see in the spending of $170,000,000 to build a huge dam and reservoir in Shasta county, canals and conduits, power houses, transmission lines and what not, is imperiled water rights, unending bond issues, debts, deficits and taxes, and no benefits worth a fraction of the cost.
